

Company Sites

If you know of a particular company that you'd like to work for, sometimes it's best to go straight to their official website. Corey heard about openings at Costco, so he'll visit their website to search directly for jobs.

Corey uses Google to search for Costco jobs.

His search results include advertisements in the shaded area at the top.

These ads might eventually lead him to an application, but sometimes they are just there to collect personal information and make money off of ad revenue.

They might also require additional, unnecessary steps before sending Corey to the real job application.

If you look at the URLs for these sites, you can see they are career and job sites, and not part of the Costco company site.

In order to save time and keep his information private, Corey will look for the official company site. The URL that includes “costco.com” is the correct one. This takes him straight to the jobs portion of Costco’s website.

Now that Corey is on the Costco jobs page, we see that there is a lot of information about jobs. Corey scrolls down to the Warehouse section.

Warehouses, Depots and Other Businesses

If you are interested in an hourly position at any of our existing locations (except Puerto Rico - see below), please apply online. If your desired location is open for business but is not listed, you can apply at the location directly. (Currently other businesses include Call Centers, Costco Wholesale Trading, Packaging Plants, Meat Processing, and Business Delivery.)

For Puerto Rico locations, please click here for either application: English | Spanish

If you are interested in employment at one of Costco's new locations that is still under construction, you should be able to apply online approximately 12 weeks prior to opening. Click on the link above, enter the nearest postal zip code to that location, and look for the listing. If the location is not listed, then the site is not yet accepting applications. We appreciate your interest and patience.

Regional and Home Office Jobs

Costco is committed to promoting from within the company. The majority of our current home and regional office team members are home grown. This means that they started in our warehouses, depots and business centers, learned the business and moved up within the company. This philosophy also ensures promotional opportunities for motivated individuals.

Today, we have accountants, lawyers, buyers, and human resources personnel who began their careers as stockers or cashiers in our locations. We believe that Costco's future officers are currently working in our warehouses, depots, and business centers, as well as in our Home and Regional Offices.

If this career path sounds challenging and exciting, we welcome you to apply. Click here for a list of typical jobs at Costco Wholesale and Costco's Home and Regional Offices.

Information Technology Opportunities

Our home office, located in Issaquah, Washington, is also the site of our Information Systems Division. For employment opportunities in I.S. ... please click

Once he's found it, he can click to apply for jobs online.

A new page loads that will let Corey do a search. At this point, notice the address bar at the top.

Although we started out at costco.com, we're now at a different web address.

This is because Costco has redirected us away from their normal website to their job application service.

This is normal for many websites to do. As long as we start out at a trustworthy site and avoid clicking on misleading advertisements, it should be okay.

The new URL also begins with "https," which means that any personal information we type in will be delivered to them securely. Now Corey needs to do a search.

Sometimes sites allow us to search by the type of job or by the job title. This website just lets us search by location.
